

The Connected Laboratory

Jason Meredith, Head of Software Product Management Tecan

Tecan Schweiz AG, Seestrasse 108, Männedorf 8708, Switzerland
jason.meredith@tecan.com

The lab of the future will be connected. But do the advantages outweigh the risks of connectivity? Connectivity presents advantages like seeing instrument status anywhere, anytime and also comparing usage and performance data from multiple sites. Connecting labs promises to help improve operational efficiency reducing costs and increase return on investment. But the challenges are not to be underestimated. In this talk, we will see how Tecan is building the lab of the future and discuss our strategies to manage the challenges and risks involved.